The Ossington Building

The Ossington is an iconic Newark Landmark originally built in 1882, by Lady Ossington in memory of her late husband John Dennison MP, Standing close to the river Trent and overlooking Newark Castle; the building was designed to serve as a Coffee Palace for social gatherings, lectures, dances etc without the consumption of alcohol, all profits went to support Newark Hospital. Due to its popularity and success a second Ossington Coffee Palace was constructed in Marylebone, London.

Newark

A traditional market town that benefits from its excellent location, situated just off the A1 and A46 between the cities of Nottingham and Lincoln and having 2 railway stations including Northgate Station which is on the east coast Main line offering commuters and shoppers easy access to London. The town is full of character with its bustling traditional cobbled market square and ruins of Newark castle that date back to 1123. Newark boasts a wealth of successful independent shops and boutiques, as well as a wide range of national chains. The town also offers an array of restaurants and cafes, a theatre and a multi-screen cinema. Newark is also a hub for antique enthusiasts, with its various antique shops and regular antique fairs held at the nearby Newark Showground.
